RESERVE CHAMPION FEMALE

Daughters of Louada Fearless in front of the farm home at The Hickories, Pardeeville, Wisconsin. Approximately one-third of the cattle in this sale . . . 18 lots . . . come from such leading Wisconsin herds.

Here is the comment I have heard several times from consignors to this sale during the morning showing hours:

“This show is tough. If you don’t think so, bring a couple down and try to win.”

And, typical of the remarks I have often heard from buyers was this one made to me after the sale two years ago:

“I’ve attended a lot of sales. I never miss Princeton. The quality has never disappointed me. I’m always able to find what I want at prices I can pay.”

It’s true . . . buyers return to where they are well treated, but it is even more true that sellers come back with better cattle each year to sales where they have had a decent selling. The Princeton sale was the Top Averaging district sale in the nation last year. Even so, when you consider that the bulls averaged $419, the females $363, there can be no reason why any practical cattleman cannot afford to own quality.

I am very proud to have been the manager of the Princeton sale each year since a small group of us founded it thirteen years ago. Maybe this is partly because it is the first sale I ever managed. The consignors themselves have made it what it is. Their pride in this offering is the reason why quality is so high.

This bull is out of a daughter of Calrossie Armada purchased for $2,700, 1955 Louada sale. Her first calf was Melbourne Fortress, now a junior herd sire for T. W. Gavin & Son, Monmouth, Illinois. Sired by Leveldale Basis, this bull has the size, substance and doing ability so much in demand, coupled with smoothness and good conformation.

AUGUSTA ALICE D 53d—Was reserve champion female at the junior show, Illinois State Fair, 1955 and stood third in the open class. Her first calf was a good steer that did well for me. Her bull, Danham Footstep, is selling in this sale, and she has a good, red heifer calf at foot by Louada Footstep, sire of the top selling bull at Princeton, 1957.

These thick, deep cows are a part of the thirty cow herd owned by the Parkhurst Bros., Oswego, Illinois, consignors to this sale. Their first cattle were purchased at Princeton . . . and a good percentage of their breeding females trace to champions and top sellers from this sale.

There are reasons why Princeton was the top averaging District Shorthorn Association Sale in 1958. 32 leading herds will participate this year . . . each sending their best in an effort to go home with the championships and top selling honors.

Quality can come to a sale only through the desire of consignors to put it there. No similar sale is blessed with such a firm consignor conviction.

There will be bulls in this sale capable of heading the finest herds . . . and a good selection of bulls for the commercial cattleman, whose aim is to top the market.

The females from the Princeton sale have added strength to many of the nation's best herds. Entire top quality herds have been built almost exclusively through purchases made in this sale.

Study the list of consignors. You will find the names of many of the most highly regarded herds in the Shorthorn business. Above, scene in the Melbourne herd, John Alexander & Sons, Aurora, Illinois, consignors of two bulls.
